morning caused a collision of two cars near Eighth and Main Streets, and residuted in the injury of several passengers and the demolishing of the rear of a Clay Street car and the front of a Main Street car.

Clay Street car and the front of a Main Street car.

Nobody was seriously hurt. Mr. R. S. Christian, of No. 1120 West Avenue, president of Post A, Travelers Protective Association, was probably more painfully injured than any one cise. He was a passenger on the runaway Main Street car, and suffered a severe sprain of the back. Others injured were:
Fletcher Jackson. No. 2000 Decatur Street, Manchester, shaken up.
David Scherer, Western Union messenger boy, cut about the head and hands by flying glass.

How It Happened. How It Happened.

Eastbound Main Street car No. 22, in charge of Motorman R. N. Allen and Conductor J. C. Faudree, dipped over the hill at Fifth and Main Streets about 8 o'clock. The car carried over sixty passengers, When near Sixth Street the motorman attempted to check his car and put on the brakes. The chain snapped and nothing was left for him to do but apply the emergency brake. The reverse current was turned on and the wheels of the car revolved backward.

But the snow on the tracks made it impossible for the car to be checked, and with each yard the momentum became greater. With great speed the car dashed across Seventh Street and bumped into greater. With great speed the car dashed across Seventh Street and bumped into a wagon owned by Mr. W. M. Parrish and driven by Henry White. The vehicle was demolished, the driver thrown several feet, but uninjured, and the mule knocked

A clay street car only a minute before crossed into Main Street, and was near Eighth when the uncontrollable Main Street car crossed Seventh. Knowing that he had no control of his car, Motorman Allen sounded his gong to let the Clay Street motorman. W. F. Mitchell, and the conductor, C. R. Powell, know that he was gaining on them he was gaining on them he was gaining on them.

Between Eighth and Ninth Streets the Main Street car overtook the Clay Street, and there was a smash. Both cars remained on the tracks, and Motorman Allen stuck to his post of duty.

The switch at Ninth and Main was open, a Laurel Street car having just gone up, and both cars turned into the switch and stopped on the hill just off Main Street. Traffic was blocked for several hours. The cars, both out of commission, were sent up the Laurel Street line and dragged into the barns.

N&WNOrfolk&Western LAND NEGRO MURDERER.

Scott County Officers to Recapture Wes Wilkey.

Messrs. W. S. Cox and J. D. Broadwater, of Scott county, secured a requisition from Governor Swanson yesterday on the Governor of North Carolina for Wes Wilkey, a negro, who is wanted on the charges of murder and of being a fugitive from justice.

The negro is a desperate character, and is being held at Salisbury, where he was recently arrested. Wilkey killed a nearro named Otis Ross in October last. He was sentenced to hans on February 21st, but broke jall and made his escaps some time ago.

ago. If the man held in Salisbury is Wilkey he will be taken back to Scott county, and hanged on the date fixed.

Fight in Court. Fight in Court.

John D. Mixson, the man charged with being a suspicious character, and suspected of being a baggage thief, will make a stub-born fight when his case comes to trial to-motrow. He has employed Mr. G. K. Pollock as counsel.

The most damaging evidence against the prisoner is the fact that he has been positively identified as the man who pawned the value of a traveling man. This value was tively identified as the man who pawned the valise of a traveling man. This valise was stolen from a 'bus 'in front of Murphy's Hotel.

Mixson appeared calm and collected in Police Court yesterday morning, and through his counsel asked for the continuance of his

CARTED SNOW AWAY. Much of It Dumped Into River

by Street Cleaners. by Street Cleaners.

Street-cleaning employes were biasy all of yesterday morning and a part of the time in the afternoon carting away the snow that had been brushed from the sidewalks into the street. Load after load was hauled to the dumpe or the river and melted. In the afternoon the streets were practically clean, The sidewalks were cleaned off by the merchants. Incidentally, it 'may be said that if any person allows snow to remain on the sidewalk in front of his place of business six hours after the snow stops failing a fine of $2.50 will be imposed.
